Correspondence	Kathy Yankoff notified the statewide membership that the "poster vendors" are at it again now that businesses must display "No Smoking" notices effective 10-01-05 with the passage of House Bill 643. The Department of Public Health and Human Services will make signs available at no cost. Job Service has a supply of the required sign, also. In short: Do not PURCHASE the notice. Kathy Yankoff sent a reminder that motivational speaker, Steve Beck, will be in Montana March 14 through 21. We can arrange to have Mr. Beck present here if we are interested.. He was one of the keynote speakers at the State JSEC meeting in May. Very dynamic, entertaining, upbeat, good presenter. Peg Iba sent reminders of all the wonderful training opportunities available locally, some of which are sponsored through Horizons. If you didn't receive the email, let Peg know, or Lonnie's got a hard copy.

OLD BUSINESS

Business Advisory	No business this meeting
Wage & Hour Seminar	The Sidney, Miles City, and Glendive JSEC coordinators are working together to reschedule John Andrew's visit to the East. The tentative dates are October 12 th 8:00 to 11:30 in Sidney, October 12 th 2:00 to 5:30 in Glendive, and October 13 th 8:00 to 11:30 in Miles City. We need to hear that this is okay from John. In the meantime, meeting rooms have been tentatively secured, and the marketing of the seminar will begin as soon as we have confirmation.
JSEC Classic	Tim Wall gave a detailed financial report for the 2005 JSEC Classic. Income from entry fees and business donations totaled $1800. Expenses totaled $1542.06 leaving a profit of $257.94. There were 48 golfers on Tuesday June 14th, the weather was perfect, the caterer brought extra food, the prizes were more than ample, and all seemed to have a good time. The change of date worked well, and the 2006 Classic will be scheduled for June as well. Sandi said she sent thank you notes to the businesses she gathered prizes from, and would like to see notes sent to each contributor next year. Our local businesses are asked for donations multiple times a week anymore, and we need to do what we can to keep the donors that we have. A thank you note would be a small thing, and very helpful to this end. The JSEC did publish the usual thank you to the businesses in the Ranger.

NEW BUSINESS

Employer in School	Steve received a copy of a Power Point presentation that the Billings JSEC created. (Sent to all members in a separate attachment.) It could be the basis of a very good presentation on Job Seeking/Obtaining/Retention skills. Looking at this Power Point presentation led to discussion of businesses getting re-involved in going into the schools to help students understand what will be expected of them in the real world of work once they leave the structure of the school system. Steve Olson serves on a committee with Desiree Hoffer, DCHS Counselor. He will talk to her about the potential for JSEC members/employers to present to students. Barb Giese, DCHS business teacher, does some teaching in the job seeking and retention area, and regularly borrows Job Service video resources to supplement her curriculum. She may be another good contact within the school system.

ANNOUNCEMENTS & TIDBITS

Sandi McGovern was appointed to the Balance of State Local Workforce Investment Board. She attended a statewide meeting of the BOS WIB in May, and talked to our JSEC about what happens at a WIB meeting. We are very fortunate to have the Glendive area represented on the WIB, and especially lucky that Sandi is also a JSEC member. The JSEC looks forward to Sandi's report on the quarterly meetings.

The service and food at the newly opened Yellowstone River Inn were exceptional.
